

The Philosophy
Foundation
THINKING CHANGES

Let's get lost

Watch: <https://bit.ly/2XvxCcL>

What was the thing you chose? Did you lose it? Can you say why?

Unpause the video and then have a go at this question: Did I lose your pencil? Why, why not, or try to explain why you don't know.

Unpause the video and listen to the story about Katy and her teddy bear: Has Katy found her teddy bear? Why, why not, or try to explain why you don't know.

Question: What is it to lose something?

If you liked thinking about this, why not contact kim@philosophy-foundation.org for further information on joining online philosophy sessions or Q&As with a philosopher.

Have a think about these other questions that might help you answer the question above:

- Is something lost if you can find it again?
- Is something lost if you cannot find it again?
- If you forget you have something, have you lost it?
- What is loss?

Unpause the video. Have a look at the quote below and say what you think about it:

“Don't be sad: anything you've lost comes around in another form.”
Rumi (13th-century Persian philosopher)

What do you think Rumi means by this?

Do you think Rumi's advice is good advice? Say why you think yes, no or something else.

If you liked thinking about this, why not contact kim@philosophy-foundation.org for further information on joining online philosophy sessions or Q&As with a philosopher.